

LOVE IN THE TIME OF CORONA

Caroline Becker

INT. CARLY'S BEDROOM- DAY

CARLY is sitting at her desk on her laptop. She is in a zoom class. PROFESSOR ROSE and classmates, including MARK, can be seen. Carly is twirling a pencil between her fingers as she longingly looks out the window. Suddenly, the pencil flies out of her hands.

PROFESSOR ROSE
Shakespeare wrote many plays. His plays were produced during the Shakespearean times.

On Carly's laptop screen, you can see that MARK watched Carly's pencil go flying. He leans out of his frame, and then leans back in.

PROFESSOR ROSE
Does anyone know why his plays--

Mark holds up a pencil in his frame.

MARK (Flirty)
Hey, Carly, I think you dropped
this.

Carly blushes and smiles.

PROFESSOR ROSE
Wait whose mic is on? You're all supposed to be muted right now.

Chyron: A 21st century romance

A zoom chat from Mark pops up on Carly's screen. The chat reads "this quarantine really sucks lol." Carly giggles and sends a chat in response that reads "ha yeah."

CHYRON: Can you find love during quarantine?

MARK

So I don't know... I was just kind of thinking... what if we,
quarantined together?

CARLY

Oh my god! But, what about social distancing?

MARK

I would never want to be socially distant from you.
